

Checklist for Completion: Capacity

If you do not yet have a program running, a completion of this component means you have:

- An understanding of the key capacities you need to support your work.
- Assessed whether you have the right levels of capacity (staff, time, money space, supplies) needed to implement your program.
- Determined which capacities need to be further developed so you can move ahead with your work.
- Further narrowed your choice of programs to implement.

If you already have a program running, you have completed the same steps as above.